Q: Change Sprite's texture I was just wondering, if it is possible, to change the texture of a sprite (which is in a collection of 7 different sprites) by using a code. I have an overlay on the desktop, where the 7 different sprites are stacked on eachother. When clicking on the game over button the texture needs to be changed. I already tried the following, but this did not work. `public class GameOverForm : Form { public GameOverForm() { InitializeComponent(); } private void GameOverButton_Click(object sender, EventArgs e) { List<Sprite> = new List<>(); Sprite MySprite = new Sprite(); Sprites.Add(MySprite); foreach (Sprite s in Sprites) s.texture = Graphics.FromImage(new Bitmap(GeImage(this.tribecontrib.BackgroundImage))); } } GeImage() returns a byte[] A: If the reason you are assigning to texture is because you want to change the sprite's color palette rather than its texture then by definition you can't. If you wanted to change the image, but keep the sprite's texture, then you could make your own sprite class that actually has a texture but supports colors. Myself I don't think that would be a very good idea. If you haven't already, I'd probably just add a button to change the color palette, because if you do that there's little you can actually do with the sprite that you can't do with a canvas (canvas doesn't support changing the color palette). It just goes to show how judgmental some people can be. --- tikhonj It's because this is a very`
